Cheap & Convenient Building.

Door, Sash and Blind Factory.

A. DUNBAR

HAS been very successful in completing several contracts for Door Frames, Doors, Window Frames and Sashes, and Blinds, for good dwelling-houses and other buildings to be erected in this city, the coming season. He has excellent workmen in his employ, and superior stock, and that he is now able to supply to those about to build the best articles of Door Frames, Window Frames, Sashes, and Blinds, made to any dimensions and of superior quality, either for a whole building or for a less quantity. The trouble and expense of building is very much lessened by having these articles made separately, so that the carpenters have only to put them up their place in the structure.

This business has now become so well established that only a small margin is left in allowing for the cost of a first class house, while the work is of a uniform excellent quality.

Any one interested can examine specimens of the work at the factory, near the Rose Place, or at the store of M. S. Jackson, on Exchange st., and better place any article may be obtained or large quantities ordered.

Mr. Dunbar is also prepared to furnish Window Blinds ready painted, and will hang them in the shortest notice.

By long experience, and, by determined perseverance, the subscriber is now enabled to sell his manufactured goods in quality and price, and is well organized in the business that no man should now think of building in the old and slow and imperfect methods.

Wilbor's Compound of

Pure Cod Liver Oil and Lime,

A CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, GENERAL DEBILITY, AND ALL SCROFULOUS HUMORS.

TESTIMONIAL.

Dr. Wilbor—Dear Sir—I have found in the course of a long and extensive practice, that the disease of Consumption are by no means to be found as arising from a few individual causes, but that any serious attack upon the body like Consumption, may leave the sufferer in that prostrate condition which induces disease. Thus in fevers, in severe colds, and in rheumatic affections, there great change in the human frame, the lungs, being perhaps the most liable to sensitive complaints of the human organization, are made to be the principal sufferers, and the letting, which is smaller than the right, is generally the participant of disease. Consumption consists of such a diminution in the passages as prevents a free circulation in the matter of respiration as is necessary to pass off and out of each cell of the chest. While the nutritious matter furnished for lungs continues, it is impossible to control the disease known as consumption.

In a series of long practice, I had found Cod Liver Oil a great and efficient agent, I chanced to use your notice of the tincture prepared by you, and known as Wilbor's Oil and Lime. I instantly realized the propriety of your combination, being for years an experimental chemist, I saw at once the medical properties of the Lime, which are rejuvenating and healing, two indispensable important agencies in the treatment of Consumption.

I accordingly applied your remedy, and in five months of cases and practice, have limited the result with surprising success in the first trial I have depended almost entirely in a consumptive cases upon your Cod Liver Oil and Lime. I believe it to be the most valuable tonic and natural tonic, and that the lime added materially the process of reformation of the diseased cells of the lungs which have decayed from various causes. Moreover, I believe, from a careful analysis of your preparation, that it not only assists the impoverished waste of the physician, as it regards a restorative agent, but also as to heal sores, ulcerations by strengthening the nervous system, and thus giving to a consumptive invalid just what is wanted, viz: the means of sustaining the body while the required cure is effected.

Having carefully tested these facts in my entire extensive practice, I do not hesitate to say to all consumptive invalids—Try Wilbor's Cod Liver Oil and Lime. A. C. MALDEN, M. D.

TO FARMERS.

Muriate of Lime!

The high price of the special manures, Guano, &c., has led to the compilation of a fertilizer which should combine all the good qualities of the above, for less money, and within the reach of the cultivators of the soil. The increased demand of last season, together with the voluntary testimony of many who have fully proved its efficacy, leads the manufacturers to believe that the object has been obtained in the Muriate of Lime, and has induced him to extend the facilities for its manufacture. It has been applied upon land of every variety of soil, but is especially adapted to Cereal Plants, Grass, Corn, Wheat &c.

A pamphlet, with descriptions, will be forwarded to any address, and all orders by mail, accompanied by the cash, punctually attended to. It is sold at the following fixed prices:—For less than 10 Bbls., $1.10 per Bbl; over 10 Bbls, $1.00, or in lots of 150 lbs., at $37 cts per bag, delivered at any depot or wharf in Boston, or Charlestown.

[Copy of a Letter.]

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8, 1856.

Messrs. C. & J. Marshall—Gentlemen: At the request of your Agent in Baltimore, in regard to our opinion and experience of your copper coated spikes, we, without hesitation, say we believe them the best substitute for copper yet introduced, and better fastening for ships, inasmuch as you have the strength of iron with the preservative qualities of copper.

We have used some of your Spikes in old vessels as a substitute for copper, and have had occasion to draw them out a year afterwards, and found them with the coating as firm as when they were driven, and with no appearance of oxidation.

Very respectfully yours,

(Signed) JOHN D. FANNY & BRO.

The Sentiments of a Truly Conservative Whig.

Judge Alfred Conkling, of New York, a friend of Mr. Fillmore, and by the latter appointed Minister to Mexico, has recently written a letter to the Hon. John A. King, disapproving of Mr. Fillmore's recent nomination and endorsing the character and aims of the Republican Party. This letter has been published, and were it not so long, we would gladly reproduce it. Judge Conkling declares himself "one of the original constituent members of the Whig Party," and in reference to the tenacity and earnestness with which he adhered to that party, he says:

It is true that I had seen but too much reason to distrust the fortunes of the Whig Party; but my hopes were not yet extinct, and my partialities and prejudices remained. I frankly confess, therefore, that it has not been until very lately, nor without a struggle, that I have at length become thoroughly reconciled to the merger of the Whig party in that known as the Republican party. Not, however, that I, at any moment, indulged a thought of remaining with the small remnant of Whigs who still adhered to the name, represented before the public, and generally composed, though it was, of men of great personal respectability, some of whom I had been proud to number among my friends. I discerned too clearly, I will not say the sophistry, because I am not disposed to question their sincerity, but the fallacies that pervaded all their published expositions of the principles by which they professed to be governed, nor also to see that those principles were wholly unsuited to the present interesting and pregnant crisis; that to adhere to them would be at best, but to abdicate the post of duty, while their successful assertion would, in my estimation, be productive of Mr. more evil than good. In referring to the present extraordinary predicament of the country, you will readily understand me to allude, as I do, to the question of Slavery extension and the monstrous brood of theories to which it has given birth.

Judge Conkling then proceeds to consider what the actual situation of the country is:

"A compact for more than thirty years, held as sacred as the Constitution itself, and, morally, no less obligatory," has been declared inoperative and void.

This outrage was accomplished and followed by the assertion and promulgation of constitutional heresies and hitherto unheard of dogmas, as revolting to common sense as the act they were designed to palliate is to the dictates of common honesty. Their tendency is, and, if carried into action, their inevitable effect will be, to extend the chilling shadow of human bondage over the Free States of the Union, and enable the Georgia slaveholder to fulfil his insolent threat to call the roll of his slaves on Bunker Hill. And monstrous as these new doctrines are, having been adopted as party watch-words, there is imminent danger that they will be effectual, unless they are promptly met by determined resistance. Of the quality of the fruit they are adapted to yield, we have a foretaste already in the unprovoked commission perpetrated in Kansas. I repeat, then, the time has come when the Free States are summoned to decide, at once and forever, whether they will supinely fold their arms and let the dark wave roll on and overwhelm them, or will resist and repel it.

But how are these fatal tendencies to be checked, asks the Judge. To what party must we look for its accomplishment? Both divisions of the Democratic party are now completely subservient to the Slaveholding interests. The late National Convention of the American party made it certain that party cannot be relied upon. Of the impurity to that Convention, and of their candidate Millard Fillmore, Judge Conkling says:

Principles with respect to Slavery were proclaimed by a majority thus constituted, so rejolting to the moral sentiments of the minority, as to drive them from the Convention. The majority saw fit to nominate a candidate for the Presidency, who has thus been placed before the country as the representative and standard-bearer of these principles not less than of those peculiar to the American party. Of this gentleman I have a few words that are due alike to him and to myself. The friendly relations that have long subsisted between us, the high opinion I entertain of his patriotism, integrity, and talents; the confidence he saw fit to repose in me, and the great personal kindness I received at his hands while he filled the Presidential office, all conspire to render it painful to me, to withhold my support from him; and had it been brought forward under other auspices, I cherished a vague hope he might be, it would have afforded me a corresponding degree of satisfaction to yield him that support. * * * In a word, then, my objection to Mr. Fillmore is that, though by the act of others, and in his absence from the country, he stands before the public as the representative of principles and of a policy which I abhor, but to which, should he be elected, he would feel bound to adhere.

The Judge concludes that there is no alternative but to support the newly-formed Republican party.

There remains, therefore, only the Republican party to which I can look as a competent instrument for the attainment of what I regard as incomparably the most interesting and important object dependent on the choice to be made at the next Presidential election. And it affords me great satisfaction to be able, with perfect sincerity, to assure you that I cordially approve the principles and aims of this party as set forth in the admirable address of the late Pittsburg Convention. I think I clearly discern, moreover, in them, and in the spirit which animated the Convention, an earnest of ultimate success. Waiving all minor objections, and all sacrifice due to the sacred cause of freedom, I accordingly enlist unreservedly under the Republican banner, and shall follow and abide its fortunes through victory or defeat.

To the cry of sectionalism, he, with great force and truth, responds:

For one, I have no fear of the cry of sectionalism. It is enough for me to know that it is a senseless and groundless clamor. What is our end? Not to advance any sectional interest of the North at the expense of the South; but to arrest abuses and pernicious heresies at war with the fundamental principles of our government, with the declared objects of the Union, with the moral sentiments and cherished hopes and expectations of the most patriotic and enlightened of the earlier Statesmen of the North as well as of the South, and with that eternal principles of justice. What we have to war against is a selfish antinational policy having its origin and its climax in aims purely sectional; a policy arbitrarily imposed upon the nation, and wantonly prosecuted, regardless of all other interests; and by a party apparently insignificant in numbers and purely sectional in residence and character. It, therefore, the approaching contest is to be marked by sectional excitement, it is not we [illegible] that the fight can justly be attached. For the [illegible] forced upon us after long endurance, by [illegible] faith.

The New York Courier and Enquirer says that Judge Conkling, long since, withdrew from the arena of active politics, and is not a representative of the large class of disappointed but conservative minds, which regarding with great concern the [illegible] part from the policy of our fathers, on the subject of slavery, and have either already reached or are fast approaching the conclusion that the interests of the Union absolutely and imperatively require the organization of a party, like the Republican, expressly and literally designed to resist and put an end to the [illegible] innovations. This conviction is every day gaining strength among men most worthy of public confidence. It is not the product of any kind of excitement. It springs simply from calm observation and cool reflection, and it has a moral power corresponding to the dignity of its origin. Security and [illegible] are like impotent against it. It will grow stronger; and in the end it will prevail.

Col. Forney, [illegible] from Pierce's Kitchen Cabinet, declares that [illegible] through the Pennsylvanian that—

"ALL THE DEMOCRATS IN THE LAND, WITH A SHADE OF INTELLECT TO BACK THEM, WOULD NOT BE ABLE SUCCESSFULLY TO DEFEND FRANKLIN PIERCE FROM SOME OF THE CHARGES MADE PUBLIC."

If Forney can't dogs [illegible] fited with all of Pierce's acts "not yet made public," we don't know who [illegible] But the testimony of deserters is to be received cautiously.—Argus.

The Watervi[illegible] Railroad.

Whoever has noticed the freights which have been brought into the city the past winter over the Watervi[illegible] road, must be satisfied that a great advantage has resulted to our citizens in the construction of this road, as least so far as the prices of flour, corn, pork and wood are concerned. This winter there has been one of uncommon obstruction by the ice in New York harbor, as well as the Penobscot waters, and the obstructions have kept back vessels having supplies, so much so, that in some cases, no vessels to enter Portland harbor, and send to this city by rail. The effect of the road has been very materially to reduce the price of flour, from what it must necessarily have otherwise been. This matter of does not show itself directly and exclusively in the shape of dividends, but helps the whole community in the less price of the staple articles which they consume.

RAILROAD TIME CHANGED. It will be seen by the advertisement that, by the Spring Arrangement, the time of arrival and departure of the trains for the west is materially changed. The morning train leaves Bangor at 9.16 A. M., and the evening train arrives at 7.40.

We call attention to the advertisement of Mr. C. Flint, in this paper. He has established a Land Agency at Sioux City, Iowa, and pays particular attention to selecting lands and locating land warrants for eastern people. Making collections, paying taxes, &c. He gives references of the very highest character, and may be relied on as a competent and faithful man.

The passenger train for the west, yesterday afternoon, when near Burnham, ran over an ox, killing the locomotive (O. W. Pickering) and tender, off the track, but without material damage, we believe. A box-car was sent to Waterville for a locomotive, and the train arrived about three o'clock. A locomotive was also sent on from this station.

MR. BAKER NOMINATED FOR THE PRESIDENCY. The "American" State Council now in session at Milwaukee, has not made nominations for Governor, but has recommended Speaker Banks for the Presidency.

We are indebted to Mr. J. K. Mason for a copy of the Annual Report of the Supervisor of Public Schools of the Town of Hampden. It is a comprehensive and well written document, and is neatly printed by Samuel S. Smith of this city.

RESIGNATION.—Dr. L. V. Bell for 18 years Superintendent of the McLean Asylum, Boston, has resigned, and taken up his residence in Charlestown.

A sermon will be preached by Dr. Pond this evening, at the Hammond St. Church, Services commence at 7½ o'clock.

The Western mails now close at 8½ A. M.

REPUBLICAN TOWNS IN WEBB.—The following towns have either elected full boards of Republican selectmen and other town officers, or a majority, in the last spring elections, viz:—Belfast, Belmont, Brooks, Camden, Frankfort, Hope, Islesboro', Jackson, Knox, Liberty, Lincolnville, Monroville, Morrill, Northport, Paterson, Prospect, Searsport, Swanville, Thorndike, Unity, Waldo and Winterport (as we understand)—in all 22.

The Anti-Republicans have carried Appleton, Burnham, Freedom, Troy, Monroe, and Searsmont—in all 6.

Strict party lines have been drawn in almost every town, and the average vote has been larger than any ever cast at any election, with the exception of [illegible] in some towns even larger than it was then. The total Republican majority is more than one thousand."—Belfast Age.

A bookseller of Southampton, England, was lately fined five shillings for selling a newspaper on the Sabbath. The magistrate, in pronouncing sentence remarked that by the terms of the English law (Stat. Charles II. and William III.) nothing could be sold on the Sabbath but milk and [illegible]

LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE

CAMBRIA,

AT HALIFAX.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 14.

The Royal mail steamship Cambria arrived at Halifax on Monday at 6 o'clock, A. M.

The America reached Liverpool at midnight on 26th, and the Baltic 7 A. M. on Friday 28th, bringing no intelligence of the Pacific.

Acting on suggestions made by the Press and individuals, Government has sent out steamers to search for the Pacific northwest of Ireland. The Cambria conveys Government despatches to the Governors of British American colonies.

The Conferences.

Congress met again on Thursday 27th. All the members were present. The deliberations were reported unimportant. The treaty of peace, it was confidently believed, would be signed on Saturday the 29th of March.

A correspondent of the London News, says that Count Tredemenn have been ordered to prepare illuminations for Saturday evening definitely. Other papers say Sunday, others one day next week—but all agree that it will be early.

Previous intelligence from Paris had stated that the diplomatic difficulty is on the point of being settled.

It will be remembered that on Saturday the 22d, the plenipotentiaries assembled with the expectation of that day terminating their labors. Napoleon is reported to have fully supposed that business was over, and to have ordered guns of Invalides to announce the conclusion of peace at the same time that the Te Deum was being celebrated for the birth of his son.—The claim of Prussia to sign the treaty on equal terms with the other powers caused the delay. Lord Clarendon having earnestly resisted Prussia's claim, and insisted that she should only adhere to the treaty in the same manner as France did to the treaty of 1840, which was signed without her participation in making it.

Paris Patrie, a Government paper, now says, "Without infringing upon necessary reserve, we can announce that the trifling difficulties of which some foreign correspondents have spoken, have not been attended with any important consequences; the Congress and its commission continue to labor at their task. The commission consists of all the second plenipotentiaries, Messrs. Bourgeney, Cowley, Hubner, Brunow, Villamarina and Hatzfield. Dejenie being ill, Ali Pache replaces him."

The Times correspondence says, that Clarendon prevailed in his motion, and, that an arrangement is come to, that the allies shall sign one protocol, and that a second shall be drawn up which Prussia and the allies shall sign jointly.

The committee is now occupied in the reduction of both protocols, the only delay supposing no accident occurs, can only be in the proper framing of these protocols.

The London Times editorial speaks of our Ally's unwise and undignified demonstrations in favor Peace, and concerves that the British will be discontented with the terms of peace. The only result to England being her victories and consciousness of undiminished resources.

The armistice is not formally prolonged, but telegraphic instructions are sent not to renew hostilities without express orders.

Crimea.

Crimea advices are to the 13th.

The health of the French is improving.

Several conflagrations occurred at Eupatoria.

Ten thousand English troops were at Balaklava.

Gen. Marmora has left Constantinople for the Crimea.

The Polish General Zamboyski arrived at Constantinople.

The English fleet was expected at Malta.

Weather in the Crimea continues stormy.

Omer Pacha had a lengthened interview with the Turkish ministry; he seems determined to resign unless he receives certain satisfactions he demands.

Britain.

There is no excitement whatever respecting American difficulties. Interest in the subject is almost extinct, although papers continue to discuss editorially. A writer, dating from Paris, over the signature of a Statesman, sends an admirably letter on the subject to the London Times.

London Marine Insurance Underwriters held a meeting to discuss the state of that business. F. Baring presided. Discussion—Adjourned.

Louis Kossuth writes to the press, expressing himself mortified by the recent appeal made by Walter Savage Landor, respecting Kossuth's straitened circumstances.

The crew of the Russian frigate Diana arrived prisoners at Falmouth.

France.

Papers continue to publish shoals of congratulatory addresses.

A review of a hundred thousand men will be held at Paris to celebrate the signing of peace. The review is nominally as a compliment to Count Orloff, the only soldier of the plenipotentiaries.

Among the rumors prevalent, are that the Emperors of Russia and Austria have respectively promised to visit Paris soon after the conclusion of peace.

Six thousand French have embarked at Marseilles for Crimea, probably to supply vacancies.

Napoleon determines to send an extensive expedition and colonization, to Madagascar. England does not oppose.

Spain.

The Queen of Spain performed the annual ceremony of washing the feet of the poor, as did the Emperor.

Italy.

The American Mediterranean Squadron remained at Genoa.

Germany.

The Assembly of Hamburg has rejected the project for a Constitution drawn up by the Germanic diet.

Austria.

The differences between Austria and Rome, relating to a proposed conference to interpret concordat, have been mutually arranged.

Very bad feelings are exhibited by Russia and Prussia towards Austria—exhibiting itself in numerous small matters.

Nothing more of reported Carlist troubles.

Persia.

Mr. Murray, British Minister from Persia, is still at Tabriz, but it is said that, Persia having apologized, he will return to Teheran.

[For the Liverpool Markets see next page.]

FORTY-COMBO.—We are happy to announce, as in press by J. P. Jewett & Co., a new volume by our townsman, C. F. Hiley, Esq. It is "Forest and Shore, or Legends of the Pine Tree State." It is dedicated "to the sons and daughters of Maine, wherever found." And we venture to predict that the sons and daughters of Maine, at home and abroad, will have them, by the hundreds. All who have read any of the legends of Mr. Hiley, will be eager to find this new volume from his pen.—Portland Transcript.

The waters of the earth are navigated by 146,000 vessels, of 12,904,667 tons—so says a German Magazine.

ANTI-SLAVERY ADDRESS IN WASHINGTON.—Mr George M. Weston, of Maine, author of the pamphlet entitled "The Poor Whites of the South," delivered a very interesting and instructive address before the Republican Association of this city, on the evening of the 25th ult. He proved, conclusively, by statistics and quotations from Southern writers and statesmen, the blighting effect the institution of Slavery has upon the poorer class of whites in the South, as also in the North, particularly in those States bordering on the slaveholding ones, by bringing their labor in competition with slave labor, thereby preventing them from obtaining a fair equivalent for their daily toil, while the wealthy slaveholder amasses large pecuniary gain from the labor of his slaves, for which he gives in return only food and scanty clothing. The poor white man is also degraded because, in some of the States, he is deprived of a vote, unless he possesses a certain amount of property, whilst his neighbor, the wealthy planter, often controls an entire county by votes on his slaves.

Whilst we fully concur with Mr. Weston as to the effects of Slavery upon the poorer classes of the whites, we must differ with him as to his policy of concentrating Slavery in the far South, as the best means of crushing out the detestable institution.

This is the first public Anti-Slavery address ever delivered in this city, outside of Congress, and was listened to with marked attention and respect by the audience. We understand the Association is having it stereotyped, and intends issuing it in pamphlet form. It will be found one of the most valuable documents for the campaign that has yet been published.—National Era.

AN INCIDENT OF SOUTHERN LIFE. A late number of the Ouachita, La., Register says:

"On Monday last the town of Camden, Arkansas, was the theatre of one of those deplorable scenes which awaken and fill the heart with pain, sorrow and consternation, and cast a melancholy gloom over the countenances of all. The particulars, as far as we have been enabled to learn them, are as follows: T. B. Carrington, Esq., editor of the Eldorado Union, called up on Mr. Jones, editor of the Ouachita Herald, and demanded of him satisfaction for alleged calumnies reflecting upon his character through the medium of the latter's paper. Jones refused to listen to Carrington, whereupon the latter left him, uttering some abusive words as he retired to the street.

A friend of Mr. Jones overheard the language of Carrington, and replied that he would fight him since Jones had refused to do so. This it seems was more than the impulsive nature of young Carrington could bear, and he immediately drew his revolver, and fired three consecutive shots at the individual without effect. The fire was returned by his antagonist, killing him instantly. The excitement occasioned by this sad occurrence was intense. Both parties were very popular with the people of Camden; and our informant states that at the time he left the town, a few minutes after the occurrence, active preparations were making by the friends of both parties for a general row.

Mr. Carrington was a brother-in-law of Hon. Albert Rust, member of Congress from Arkansas, and leaves, we understand, an amiable and interesting young wife, to mourn his sudden death, besides a large circle of friends and relatives. He is spoken of by his numerous friends here as having been a writer of fine abilities, and a whole-souled Democrat in principles."

AN INTERESTING STORY.—"Shon, mine shon," said a worthy German father to his heir of ten years, whom he had overheard using profane language. "Shon, mine shon! come here and I will tell you von little stories. Now, mine shon, shall it be a drue story, or a make believe?"

"Oh, a true story, of course!" answered John.

"Vell den. Dere was vonce a goot, nice oldt shentleman, (shoost like me,) and he had von dirty little boy, (shoost like you,) and von day he heard him swearing like a young fillian, as he vas. So he went to der winkle, (corner,) and took out a green hides, (shoost as I am doing now,) and took ter dirty liddle blackguard py the collar, (dis way, you see!) and pollaped him, shoost so! And den, mine dear shon, he pulled his ears, dis way, and smack his face dat way, and dell him to go mithout his supper, shoost as you vilt do dis evening."

KANSAS.—Mr. Oliver, of Missouri, arrived at St. Louis on the 2d instant, on his way to Kansas, being a member of the committee to investigate the circumstances attending the recent elections in that Territory. The commission is expected to begin its session at Leavenworth about the 15th or 20th of the present month. A Kansas correspondent of the St. Louis Republican, in speaking of the Free-State Legislature, states that the grand juries of the Circuit Court, under the instruction of Judge Lecompte, have indicted not only the members, but all the judges of election; and that it was the intention of the judge, at his term in Douglas, to commence about the 1st of this month, to have bills found against Gov. Robinson, Lieut. Gov. Roberts, and all the executive officers elected.

FREEDOM IN THE SUPREME COURT.—Washington, April 10.—At the consultation of the Supreme Court last night, on the Missouri case, the majority declared in favor of jurisdiction. It is understood that they stand: Judges McLean, Curtis, Grier, Campbell and Catron in the affirmative, and Judges Taney, Wayne, Nelson and Daniel in the negative.

Another Conference is ordered for Saturday night, to determine how the Judges denying the jurisdiction can give opinions on the merits of the case. This difficulty will be solved by Judge Catron or Judge Campbell, who, while affirming the jurisdiction, will agree with the dissentients in denying the right of freedom claimed by the colored plaintiff. Others can acquiesce, or each deliver a separate opinion.

The decree will be rendered next week. Judges McLean and Curtis sustaining the constitutionality of the Missouri Compromise, and Judge Grier construing. These opinions have hardly fail to make a large impression on the country.—Tribune.

Old John Jones was a merry old man,
A merry old man was he;
He fell in love with a pretty young lass,
In love with a pretty young lass fell he.

The lass was fair, and the lass was young,
Fair and young was the lass;
But John Jones was a very old man,
A very old man was he.

And old John Jones was very [illegible]
As age or [illegible] was he;
But he could dance and sing, and [illegible]
Such a gay old man was he.

Now old John Jones was told the [illegible]
That gentle deceit was love;
But the young lass [illegible]
And cried out, "Fiddle-de-dee."

Old John Jones was grieved at the heart,
Ah, very much grieved was he;
That the handsome young lass had said so,
So he died out of address.

Below we place some commendatory notices of a Boston patent chemical medicine, which seems to be taking a good deal of attention:

Arnold's Globules and Vital Fluid—Their Process of Action.—The Globules neutralize the impurities of the blood by giving it Hydrogen and Oxygen—the elements of pure fresh air, and thereby supply vitality in like manner by their chemic agency. The human system in every [illegible] composed of chemical elements, and when the vital principle of health is wanting, something is needed to supply the system with it is required. Chemical power is needed to restore the lacking chemical electricity. They have like properties, with exception that in the Fluid the cathartic power is absent and a [illegible] substituted, and a greater degree of alterative power is infused.—Yankee Blade.

TELEGRAPHIC

TO THE DAILY WHIG AND COURIER

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, 15th.

SENATE. Mr Harlan presented an affidavit made by Col. Lane, on the subject of the Kansas memorial presented by Gen Cass and referred by the Senate. Mr Hamlin said that in respect for the Senate called upon him to explain the affidavit. If the paper is a copy of the original, the establishment of that fact is proof of its authenticity. He thought it would be a little strange to argue against the authenticity of the bible because we are unable to lay our hands on the original parchments as they came from the hands of the penmen—the prophets and apostles. Although those parchments had been copied millions of times, and translated into various languages, there were few who doubted the genuineness of the scriptures on that account.

Mr. Harlan then proceeded to speak of the character of Jas. H. Lane, saying, he had been a resident from his youth. His father, Amos Lane, was the second speaker of the Indiana House of Representatives, elected by the Democrats, and when a member of Congress he was the wheel horse of General Jackson's Administration.

The career of Jas. H. Lane was then traced by Mr. Harlan, from his appointment as post master by Mr. Van Buren, down to the present time, alluding to his services as one of the democratic Electors for Pierce and King.

Mr Harlan read Mr. Lane's petition explaining that the draft was made by a committee appointed by the Kansas legislature, and the rough draft, originally drawn, adopted, but the committee was empowered to correct the phraseology. Mr. Lane prays the Senate to receive the memorial.

Until o'clock, the Pacific Railroad bill being the special order, came up, and consideration thereon postponed.

Mr. Harlan concluded his remarks in favor of receiving the memorial.

Mr. Douglas stated as the reason why he objected, because the document had been materially altered since its authors saw it.

Mr. Wade replied to Douglas.

Mr. Pugh spoke against receiving the memorial.

Mr Hale said Col. Lane had been accused of fraud and forgery, and should be heard in his defence.

Mr. Wilson said Douglass had indulged in partizan catch words, unworthy of the Senate.

Mr. Douglass replied, saying he used the word rabble, as applicable to the traitors and rebels in Kansas. He used the word block, to designate Republicans, because every clause in the platform, relates to the negro question. It is a fitting term for a sectional party.

Mr. Wilson said he had addressed a large meeting in Delaware oh Saturday, he distinctly avowed the principles of the Republican party, and the sentiments were assented to.—Republican principles were national.

Mr Douglas said the democrats in the coming election will take issue with the Republicans on the slavery question, and will go before the country upholding the Kansas act and the doctrines it involves.

Mr Wilson said he did not disown the name of abolitionist. John Quincy Adams, George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Jay, Hamilton, Franklin, and most of the Revolution were abolitionists. The Republican party opposed slavery everywhere, but will not interpose in the States

Mr Stewart deprecated the discussion of such an exciting question by then, whose avowed object is to grasp the reins of power. At his instance, the motion to receive Mr Lane's petition was laid on the table.

HOUSE.—The committee on Elections were discharged from the further consideration of the memorial of Mr. Fahey of La., contesting the seat of Mr. Eustis.

Mr. Cobb of Georgia, asked leave to submit a resolution, ceasing the present session of Congress on the 4th of July.

Mr. Washburn of Maine said this movement was intended to smother the Kansas investigation.

The House refused to suspend the rules, for the purpose of receiving the resolution, by a Vote of 95 against 57—two-thirds being necessary to suspend the rules.

Mr Hall asked leave to introduce a resolution, looking to the overthrow of Polygamy in Utah, but the House refused to suspend the rules

The deficiency bill was then debated till the usual adjournment.

Tornado at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.

The tornado last night unroofed one hundred and fifty houses in different sections of the city, but there was no loss of life, so far as heard from. Two large brick churches and three factories in Kensington were unroofed.—The large boiler house of the Franklin Iron works, one hundred and fifty feet long, was totally demolished. The Trenton Railroad depot at Kensington was partially unroofed. The western telegraph lines are all down, and it will require two or three days to get them again in working order.

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.

Accounts from towns in the vicinity of this city give additional information of the ravages of the tornado. A lady was killed at Westchester, by a shutter, while she was endeavoring to close the blinds.

Innumerable dwellings and barns have been unroofed in every direction. A train of loaded freight cars, standing near the depot of the Penn. Railroad, in West Philadelphia, was blown from the track. Ten loaded cars on the Reading Road were driven a hundred yards from the place where they were left, and five of them blown off the track.

Hartford Election.

HARTFORD, April 14.

The Democrats have carried the city of Hartford by 538 majority on Mayor, and they carry 8 of the 9 wards, electing a large majority of Aldermen and Councilmen.

Election in Providence.

At the election on Saturday to fill ten representative vacancies, the Republican and American ticket was chosen by majorities of from 234 to 757.

Arrest for Mail robbery.

ALBANY, April 14.

Joseph Roach, a stage driver, has been arrested in Sedalia county, Missouri, for robbing the mail. A draft for $1925, and other monies were found in his possession, which he had abstracted from letters.

NEW YORK, 15th.

Advices from Bermuda of 7th state that schr Republic, Snow, from Baltimore for St Lucia, arrived there in distress, with loss of sails, &c. She anchored at the west end yesterday, and is bound into the port.

Ship New Hampshire, Shelton master, 78 days from Glasgow for N. Y. laden with iron, put into St Georges on Thursday, in want of spars.

Ship News.

CHARLESTON, 14th.

Steamship Isabella, with Havana dates to 10th, has arrived. Among her passengers is Senator Mallory. She brings no news of importance from Havana.

From Key West we learn that ship Albus of Boston went ashore 29th, and was rescued by the wreckers. Salvage and expenses $3000. She sailed for New Orleans on the 2d. Ship James Guthrie went ashore on the 30th, but was got off by the wreckers and towed to Key West.

Ship West Wind, Hall, from Boston for San Francisco, passed Sandy Hook 24th.

The barque Chicago, Jones master, from Boston for Havana, was spoken Dog Rock.

Sewing Machines.

To Clothiers, Tailors, &c.

NOW IS THE TIME during the fall season, and before the hurry of business, to introduce the Sewing Machines. An improved $125 in a Sewing Machine will procure more profit than a much larger sum tossed about other way. Having settled all suits of Machines, there is not a shadow of claim against them. The Examiner and Dorcas machines infringing our patent, we have proceeded against them in the United States Court, having jury trials in the Circuit Courts, and we have come out triumphant. The Wheeler & Wilson, and the Grover & Baker, are expected to come off this month, and therefore caution the public not to purchase any of the infringing machines, if they desire to escape litigation, for we shall stand on our rights.

I. M. SINGER & CO.

Sewing Machine.

This great and peculiar advantage of Singer's Sewing Machine is this:

One Machine will perform every kind of work perfectly by simply changing the No. of Thread; the machines are simple in their construction, strong, durable, and not liable to get out of order.

All who wish to purchase, and the public in general, are invited to call at No. 41 Broad street, Bangor.

Mattawamkeag Log Driving Company.

At a meeting of the Directors, held this day, Voted—that we will commence our first drive from the Jellerson Bowes, near the Forks of Mattawamkeag, waiting a little for logs to come, but commencing in season to be sure of a good drive on the snow freshet; and that we take all other logs at the Drew Dead Water, and upon all driven from above the Drew Water the additional expense.

The owners of lumber designed to come down with the above drive, or this season will please to mark that he is requested, before the first day of May next, to file with the Clerk a written request, by him signed, of the amount and description of such lumber, or he will be liable to be charged for such amount as the Directors may assess.
